

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method for intelligent video stream modification.
A digital video stream is segmented into at least one video partition, and multiple frames are acquired 5 therefrom. The modification area and the reference area are processed by compression and decompression algorithms
to output a final edited digital video stream.